TUIT

Tashkent University of Information Technologies named after Muhammad al-Khwarizmi (TUIT) is one of the largest universities in Uzbekistan. Initially, TUIT was founded in 1955 as the Tashkent Electrotechnical Institute of Communications and was the only university in Central Asia that specialized in the production of communication engineers. By the decision of the President of Uzbekistan in 2018, TUIT was named after the great scientist of the Middle Ages, Muhammad al-Khwarizmi. Today TUIT is one of the leading universities in the country for the production of highly qualified specialists in the field of ICT.

BSUIR

The Belarusian State University of Informatics and Radioelectronics (BSUIR) is a leading national and largest international scientific and educational center with enormous opportunities for work, scientific and educational activities. The university is equipped with modern laboratory equipment, has an extensive infrastructure and provides all the necessary conditions for training and research activities.

SPHIT TUIT-BSUIR

On September 13, 2018, an agreement was signed between the Tashkent University of Information Technologies named after Muhammad al-Khorazmiy and the Belarusian State University of Informatics and Radioelectronics to establish a joint faculty of information technologies (SFIT TUIT-BSUIR) to train high-level specialists. In accordance with this agreement, since 2019, TUIT has been training students in the following areas:

- Information technology software;
- Programmable mobile systems;
- Artificial intelligence.

PREPARATORY COURSES SFIT TUIT-BSUIR

At SFIT TUIT-BSUIR preparatory courses are organized with a training period of up to 9 months, conducted by highly qualified teachers of TUIT and BSUIR, in the following subjects:

- Russian language
- English
- Computer science
- Maths
- Physics

Training is carried out in 2 shifts, 5 days a week.

The monthly tuition fee is 700,000 soums.

What will it give?

A student of the preparatory courses who successfully passed the exams will receive a BSUIR certificate, which guarantees the possibility of admission to SFIT TUIT-BSUIR out of competition. The certificate gives the owner the right not to participate in the exam conducted by representatives from the BSUIR.
