

In order to support the interest of young people to innovative technologies, on January 17 a competition dedicated to the Day of the Young Inventor, organized by the Scientific and Practical Center for the Implementation of Innovative Developments together with the Tashkent Polytechnic Museum was held.

A third-year student of Computer Engineering faculty from our university Javohir Nizomiddinov won the nomination "The Best Social Project"!

We remind you that, gifted students of schools, colleges, lyceums, students of universities and institutes can take part in this competition. The projects of the participants are evaluated by the jury.

Refer to: Student of TUIT became the winner of the Republican contest!

TUIT Press Service